Appreciation in the Value of Rupee

468. SHRI CHHITUBHAI GAMIT : Will the Minister of FINANCE be pleased to state:

(a) whether in the Annual Report of Reserve Bank for 1996–1997, Reserve Bank of India has recorded that every fall in gold prices, appreciation in the value of the rupee against US dollar and a gain in the value of dollar against other currencies hurts the Central Bank badly; and

(b) if so, the reaction of Government in this regard?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI SATPAL MAHARAJ) : (a) According to the Annual Report-1996–97 of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), while the quantity of gold holdings of the RBI remained unchanged, there has been a decline in the value of gold holdings during 1996–97 and in the first quarter of 1997–98 on account of the decline in internation prices of gold. Similarly, the increase in foreign currency assets, in US dollar terms, during 1996–97 was moderated somewhat because of valuation loss resulting from the depreciation of non-dollar currencies vis-a-vis the US dollar.

(b) Upward or downward movements in exchange rates and gold prices in the international market are normal occurances and the resulting valuation gain or loss in RBI's holdings of foreign exchange reserves is unavoidable. Such valuation changes, however, do not affect the quantity of gold holdings of the RBI or the amount of foreign currency asset holdings in respective foreign currencies. The Reserve Bank also maintains a Contingency Reserve to be able to absorb unexpected and unforeseen liabilities in its balance sheet arising out of valuation losses.
